

Aviation insurance

In spite of being one of the safest modes of transport, the risks associated with the aviation industry are well known to airline and aircraft operators. Our Aviation Insurance Cover will keep you flying by offering protection and mitigating the costs of contingencies like damaged aircraft parts, compensation for serious injuries, etc.

What's covered?

- Loss of, or damage to, the aircraft
- Legal liability to passengers
- Legal liability to non-passenger Third Parties and damage to their property

Is it for me?

Airplanes are mighty expensive vehicles and the cost of replacing damaged parts can often be prohibitive. We encourage any companies associated with the aviation industry to take out cover for this reason.

What's NOT covered?

- Any loss or damage incurred while the aircraft is not within the geographical limits stated in the schedule (unless due to force majeure)
- Any loss or damage incurred from specific causes such as radioactivity and asbestos (see policy booklet for full details)
- Any loss or damage incurred while the aircraft is being flown by someone other than the pilot/s stated in the Schedule
- Any loss or damage incurred while the aircraft is landing, taking off, or attempting either, from a place not recommended in the manufacturer's guide (unless due to force majeure)
- Any loss or damage incurred while the aircraft is carrying more passengers than the maximum number stated in the Schedule
